

Dear Purchaser

Safety by Design

This item has been designed and built by the manufacturer so that, as far as is reasonably practicable, it can be operated for its intended use without risk to health and safety. Please refer to the manufacturer's instructions for the safe operation of the item.

It is important to understand that any operating environment will present its own hazards. We therefore strongly recommend that an independent risk assessment of your intended operating environment is carried out prior to installation and use of the item. Should you require assistance with locating a health and safety professional local to your area for an onsite assessment, please don't hesitate to get in touch. Our contact details appear at the bottom of this page.

If you discover any defect in the design or manufacture of this item (particularly any defect that raises a concern for health and safety), please advise us immediately.

Yours sincerely

Geotechnics Sales team